PROJECT PRESENTATION

On 22 May 2001, the World Health Organization elaborated an innovative and multidisciplinary way of classify the disability: the ICF International of Functioning Disability and Health. Thanks to this new classification the disability is described as human experience and the concept of Handicap became is getting more and more obsolete. The ICF wants to describe the people state of health according to their social, familiar, working commitment in order to understand which difficulties in the socio-cultural background may be the cause of disability.

The DACTIVE project aims at fostering active citizenship and learning among particular adult target group : persons with intellectual disability

General objectives:

- Developing innovative learning approaches to foster social inclusion
- Promoting learning opportunities based on participation in activities rooted in the local community
- Developing systems allowing the sharing of good practice in field of disadvantaged/people with disabilities

Project

Summary

The D-ACTIVE project aims at fostering active citizenship and learning among a particular adult target group at high risk of marginalization: persons with intellectual disability. The project partners (both institutional and private) have recognized the following problems concerning the target group:

- difficulty in implementing activities aimed at developing key and specialist competencies (according to recommendations proposed by the European Council as in Barcelona Conference 12/05/2009 ET2020);
- difficulty in providing European methods in order to foster the concrete development of essential competencies or becoming active citizens and finding better jobs.
